

entegris.com
50 YEARS OF PURE ADVANTAGE

04 April, 2020

To Entegris Valued Suppliers,

Entegris manufactures and supplies products to the semiconductor, microelectronics, chemical and industrial gas, life sciences and other high-technology industries. These products have been deemed essential goods and our operations, as well as those of our customers, have been deemed an essential business in the jurisdictions in which we operate. As a result, our global manufacturing facilities continue to operate. The products and services that you supply to Entegris are critical to maintaining our operations as essential businesses.

The health and safety of our employees and our supply chain partners remains our highest priority. We have practices in place regarding visitors to the site, remote work and social distancing. We greatly appreciate your transparency on any supply chain disruptions or challenges you are experiencing. Thank you for your continued support to allow us to continue our essential operations. If you have any questions, please reach out to your Entegris Commodity Manager or Buyer contact.

Best Regards,

Sandy Gauthier
VP, Global Supply Management